

Building Strategic Competency

As language increases, it is important to think about how that language is used and the ease of the individual to use it.

- Identify individual limitations that impact communication (e.g. the slow speed of communication).
- Determine and teach strategies to address these limitations.

