Websites for Datasets

- https://www.statsmedic.com/
- http://www.rossmanchance.com/
- http://www.statemaster.com/index.php
- https://www.nationmaster.com/
- https://www.census.gov/library/publications/time-series/statistical_abstracts.html
  While the Statistical Abstract of the United States which was discontinued in 2011, this remains a valuable resource.
- https://www.esrl.noaa.gov/gmd/ccgg/trends/
  Possible uses of this dataset could include comparing linear and exponential regressions. There are other data sets and trends addressed on this site that deal with methane and nitrous oxide.

General Resources

- https://www.statsmedic.com/
- https://www.learner.org/series/against-all-odds-inside-statistics/
- https://www.cpalms.org/Public/search/Standard
- https://learnzillion.com/resources/75068-statistics-and-probability-instructional-videos/
- www.statcrunch.com